Honor Your Father On His Special Day

Fathers play a special, irreplaceable role in people's lives. Let yours know that. This Father's Day, skip the necktie and tell your dad what he really means to you. Some suggestions:

- ✓ Write a letter thanking your father. Tell him what he means to you. Read it in front of him and the whole family. You can frame it and even add photos or other mementos.
- ✓ Create a thank-you book. Buy a small book of blank pages. On each page, write why you're thankful for him. Example: "Thanks, Dad, for all the help you provided on my algebra homework when I was a kid." Send it around to your siblings and have them contribute the reasons they're grateful.
- ✓ Create a review of your father's life. Get family members and old friends to write down their memories of your father. Then write a script incorporating all the stories and present it to him.

Newlyweds... What To Do With The Cash You Receive

June is the most popular month for weddings, and that means fancy dresses, cake, and wedding gifts—frequently in the form of cash. Once you're back from the honeymoon, you may wonder what to do with the financial gifts you've received. Consider this advice from The Consumerist website:

- ◆ Pay off debt. If you borrowed money to pay for the wedding or financed it with credit cards, start off your marriage with a clean slate by eliminating that debt right away. Reducing debt also reduces newlywed stress.
- ◆ Start an emergency fund. Put the money in the bank for a rainy day. You'll need a cushion if one or both of you lose your job, your home or car needs an expensive repair, or some other emergency arises.
- ◆ Set some long-term saving goals. Sit down with your partner and discuss where you want to be in a few years. Are you hoping to buy a home? Start a business? Retire early? Consult with a financial planner about investment options.

Planning A Trip? Buy Your Tickets Early

Most of us realize that buying airline tickets ahead of time is cheaper than paying top dollar at the last minute. But how far in advance should you make your reservation to get the best deal?

The website cheapair.com analyzed pricing data from more than 4 million flights and came up with the magic number: Start planning your trip 54 days in advance to get the cheapest airfare, at least for domestic flights. And don't forget to send a postcard.

Things You'll Never Hear Dear Old Dad Say

- ➔ Darn-it ... I'm lost. Can you believe that? I'll just stop here and ask directions.
- ➔ Sweetie, now that you've turned 13, I think you should be allowed to do whatever you want.
- ➔ I really like the attitudes of your friends. They seem angry and disrespectful and I see the value in that.
- ➔ I just want you to have my credit card and new car so that you can have a great time. No curfew. Go ahead, go wild!
- ➔ You don't need to work for your spending money. Shoot, I make enough. How much do you need?

Where Did All Those 'Cats And Dogs' Really Come From?

We've all heard the phrase, "It's raining cats and dogs," but it seems like an odd metaphor for extreme weather. Where did it come from? Here are two theories from language expert Richard Lederer:

- Literal interpretation. One theory is based on the fact that during heavy rains in 16th century England, some city streets turned into rivers of filth, carrying (among other things) lots of dead cats and dogs.
- Superstition. Another theory comes from the 13th century belief that animals had magical powers. Cats were associated with storms, especially black cats, while dogs were frequently associated with winds. So when a particularly violent storm came along, people would say, "It's raining cats and dogs," with the cats symbolizing the rain and the dogs representing the wind.

The Lighter Side Of 4 & 5 Year-Olds

- ◆ Melanie, 5, asked her Granny how old she was. Granny replied she was so old she didn't remember. Melanie said, "Just look in the back of your pants. Mine say 5 to 6."
- ◆ Brittany, 4, had an earache and wanted a pain killer. She tried in vain to take the lid off the bottle. Her mother explained it was a child-proof cap. Eyes wide with wonder, the little girl asked: "How does it know it's me?"
- ◆ Susan, 4, was drinking juice when she got the hiccups. "Please don't give me this juice again," she said, "It makes my teeth cough."
- ◆ Sunday prayer: "Dear Lord," the minister said, with arms extended toward heaven, "Without you, we are but dust." The little girl turned to her dad and asked in her shrill 4-year-old voice, Dad, what is butt dust?

Have A Restful Vacation With These Preparations

Summer is here, which means many of us are planning family vacations. To detach from the workplace without worry and enjoy the break you deserve, follow these steps before you leave:

- ★ Prepare your co-workers. Talk to the people who will handle questions or problems while you're away. Help them troubleshoot by providing pertinent information like the status of current projects, names of possible callers, and reasons they might call.
- ★ Set an auto-reply message to your email. Let people know how long you'll be out of the office, when you'll be returning, and who they should contact in the meantime. Leave the same information on your voice mail.
- ★ Notify co-workers and clients. Let bosses, customers, and colleagues know you'll be on vacation at least a week, if not sooner, before you take off. Ask if they need assistance before you leave. You'll have prepared them for your absence and they'll have to work without you.
- ★ Straighten up. There's nothing as un-motivating as coming back from a great vacation to a workspace in complete disarray. Make the transition easier by cleaning up before you leave.

Being Thoughtful...

One of the best parts of thoughtfulness is that, when it becomes integrated within your heart and soul, you will feel as good (if not better) than the person you are being thoughtful toward. Thoughtfulness makes a relationship work whether it is your partner, a family member, a neighbor or a co-worker. The real beauty is that this behavior gets stronger every time you use it. It's actually a gift you give yourself.

Take Care Of Your Car & It Will Take Care Of You!

"Don't blame your car," says Rich White, a Car Care Council spokesperson. "It can't drive itself to the shop and ask for an oil change or new spark plugs." Considering how dependent we are on our cars, it's surprising how we take them for granted. An old battery or badly worn tire has its way of forewarning us that's its going to let us down, but we tend to wait for the inevitable. Having such busy lives makes it hard to find time for ourselves let alone our vehicles, but somehow we must take the time. If we don't, it could waste more of our precious time as well as our money. The Council stresses the value of periodic checkups, especially before vacations. It not only helps prevent traffic jams due to mechanical breakdowns, but also ensures your own safety.

CALL TODAY (215-257-0204) to schedule your check over so we can help keep you off the side of the road this year and make your vacation an enjoyable one!

Thanks For The Kind Words

"One feature that I love about Joe Davis Autosport is that they provide detailed quotes before servicing your vehicle and a detailed inventory of the work they've done to your car after they've finished. This was the first mechanic who has ever provided me with such a quality documentation."

A Tall Tale

Mark Twain loved hunting and fishing, as well as bragging about his exploits. According to one story, he once spent three weeks fishing in the Maine woods, ignoring the fact that the fishing season was over. Relaxing in the train on his return journey to New York, he started telling a stranger sitting next to him about all the fish he'd caught.

His newfound companion didn't seem impressed. Finally Twain asked, "By the way, sir, who are you?"

"I'm the state game warden," the stranger replied. "And may I ask who you are, sir?"

"Me?" Twain responded quickly. "I'm the biggest liar in the whole United States!"

Quotes

"Live so that when your children think of fairness and integrity, they think of you."

- H. Jackson Brown

"Nothing you do for children is wasted. They seem not to notice us, hovering, averting our eyes, and they seldom offer thanks, but what we do for them is never wasted."

- Garrison Keillor
